

Review Chess Rush

Tencent Games

Chess Rush is a free downloadable app owned by video game giant Tencent Games. The title belongs to the new fashion genre of what are known as auto chess. The player must prepare turn-based attacks with different heroes of various classes and abilities

Game genres are updated, renewed. Fashions change and Tencent's Chinese studies have proven to be always at the forefront of the industry with their game and app releases. This time we are going to refer to Chess Rush, a new success of the firm responsible for phenomena such as PlayerUnknown's Battlegrounds or League of Legends among others.

Playing Chess Rush is synonymous with getting into one of the new free mobile app experiences. The modality of this title is similar to that already proposed by other installments such as Dota Auto Chess or Teamfight Tactics, the mod of this type within League of Legends.

The new game modality known as Auto Chess or Auto Battle consists of developing games that are fundamentally sustained by strategy. The troops are deployed on a board that is similar to that of traditional chess and carry out attacks or defenses according to their qualities and characteristics. The difference with other game mechanics is that here the operation is automatic, it does not move or act at any time but only at the beginning or depending on where we deposit our troops (a modality similar to the attacks of Clash of Clans). That is to say, it is in turns, it does not alter once deployed and it will be necessary to know a lot and be very smart about the heroes we use. Chess Rush adapts to these rules and proposes a large cast of heroes (there are more than 50) to carry out the most exciting fights.

It is possible to download Chess Rush for free and enter this fantastic world of high fighting. It is good that once you install it you spend some time reading the specific characteristics of each class and race as well as their special abilities. The combination of them will have various effects on the battlefield.

The classes available in the Tencent installment are: Warrior, Assassin, Sorcerer, Rider, Summoner, Hunter, Warlock, Druid, Punisher, and Protector.

On the side of the races that appear available in Chess Rush you can find: Human, Elf, Beast, Cyborg, Eastern, Goblin, Undead, Demon, Oceanborn, Void, Dragon, Angel and Jelly.

Also during the games the enemies will drop items. Each of the heroes in our team can load up to 3 or 4 and they will have the possibility to upgrade items. These provide advantages in terms of attack speed, amount of damage done by attacks, speed to recover mana depending on the game situation, resistance to magic attacks, levels of armor and more. Some of the items can be: Piercing Dagger, Critical, Spellbane Staff, Forbidden Tome or Defensive Armor.

Heroes are the creatures we deposit on our board and the game has more than 50. Characters will level up as we celebrate more and more confrontations. Some of them are: Frost Lotus, The Devourer, Sword Dancer, Wukong, Steel Fist and Nether Price. If we manage to combine three of them at the same time on the battlefield, we will achieve a special attack.

Chess Rush game modes are varied. One of the newest options that it presents for the genre is Turbo Mode, with this alternative you can play games of a maximum of 10 minutes. It is something new since in general the confrontations usually take more than 30 minutes and the other similar proposals do not have this Mode. There are also features to play 2v2 or 4v4 in an exciting cooperative mode. The app presents a global server that allows you to find and confront friends from all over the world. If you play a normal game in individual mode, you will face seven other players. In this app, spending money does not guarantee victory since it is very important that you use strategy to make the best possible combination of your troops.

Tencent Games is again a great success with an interesting new entertainment proposal. With Chess Rush you will be inside a huge fantasy world with excellent graphics and animations. Even sound effects during battle bring you a great deal of reality. If you want to have entertainment on your mobile to think and have fun here is your option.
